

Mondrian U.S. Small Cap Equity Fund

MPUSX

Fund Objective

The Fund seeks long-term total return.

Fund Strategy

The Fund invests primarily in equity securities of U.S. small-capitalization companies. Mondrian applies a defensive, value-oriented process that seeks to identify undervalued securities that we believe will provide strong excess returns over a full market cycle.

Fundamental research is strongly emphasized. Extensive contact with companies enhances qualitative and quantitative desk research, both prior to the purchase of a stock and after its inclusion in the portfolio.

The Fund is subject to market risks. Mondrian's approach focuses on providing a rate of return meaningfully greater than the client's domestic rate of inflation. Our Fund seeks to preserve capital during protracted global market declines.

- With over 30 years of stable leadership and growth, we have an established team of dedicated and focused professionals working on the behalf of investors.
- As a UK-based, global investment manager, we believe we bring a unique and differentiated approach to evaluating US small cap companies and constructing portfolios.
- Over Mondrian's history of international investing for global clients, we have built up considerable understanding of the effects of currency movements. This is valuable in discussions with US companies with overseas exposure.

Performance Review

- The Russell 2000 index rose 2.14% in the fourth quarter, capping off another full year with double-digit returns.
- Solid gains from early-on in the quarter were mostly given up as concerns about the implications of elevated inflation and a new more transmissible Covid variant weighed on sentiment. Further, the Democrat's attempt to pass the Build Back Better Act before year-end was stymied by Senator Manchin, who prefers a slimmer, more targeted package.
- Utilities and real estate delivered the strongest returns in the quarter, rising 12.6% and 10.0% respectively, as equity investors rotated into lower-risk segments of the market. Robust gains within industrial and consumer staples were also recorded, up 9.4% and 9.2% respectively. With regard to the latter, household and personal care companies have seized on the rare opportunity provided by the inflationary environment to raise prices where possible. Notable strength in semiconductors helped the information technology sector, which added 6.0%.
- Communication services fell 10.7% and health care shed 10.0% in the quarter, placing them both at the bottom of full-year sector returns. While the former posted a strong finish to the first half as the economy reopened, generally disappointing box-office takings saw the entertainment subsector swoon. Energy had a weak finish to the year, dropping 4.0%. Even so, it delivered the greatest annual return by a wide margin as the oil price recovered through the year.
- The US Small Cap Fund outperformed the benchmark index by 7.22%.
  - Contributions arose equally from stock selection and sector allocation, the latter of which is primarily a product of our bottom-up approach to Fund construction. A broad range of sectors supported performance, although information technology and health care were noteworthy for their outsized positive impact. Certain defensive sectors - consumer staples, financials and utilities - where the Fund is underweight held back relative returns.

Philosophy

Mondrian is an active, value-oriented defensive manager. In the management of all equity assets, we invest in securities in which rigorous dividend-discount analysis identifies value in terms of the long-term flow of income. Dividend yield and future real growth play a central role in our decision making process; over time the dividend component will be a meaningful portion of the expected total return.

Our methodology is applied consistently to individual securities across all markets and industries.
